

Simplifying Daily Operations

Ignite Spot Accounting

Dan Luthi, Chief Operating Officer

Ignite Spot Accounting, which is a certified QuickBooks Pro Advisor, serves entrepreneurs seeking to outsource their accounting, offering customized packages that can include bookkeeping, taxes and CFO services. The company's mission is to help businesses become debt-free and more profitable.

The Challenge

Experiencing a rise in daily connectivity drops with remote desktops, Ignite Spot Chief Operating Officer Dan Luthi began a search for a new cloud hosting service. With clients ranging in size from small startups to established corporate entities, the company was also in need of a solution to streamline their Accounts Payable and Accounts Receivable function.

The Solution

After much research and consideration, Luthi turned to Right Networks and, within 60 days, the company smoothly transitioned to the QuickBooks Desktop cloud hosting platform and also began utilizing its Bill.com integration.

The Results

Said Dan, "During onboarding, Right Networks was there for us every step of the way, answering questions and troubleshooting any issues. Overall, the Ignite Spot team has found Right Networks' service far superior to others we've used in the past."

Ignite Spot encourages all clients with a large volume of files or a complex setup to use Right Networks' hosted environment. "For many of our clients, every dollar counts and they see a significant value in Right Networks," said Dan.

"Overall, the Ignite Spot team has found Right Networks' service far superior to others we've used in the past."

"They appreciate the ease of collaboration and the fact that we can work on files simultaneously, without the need for us to hold up a computer onsite. There's no need to schedule a time to be online, so it's much more like an online interface."

Right Networks' integration with Bill.com has also played an integral role in streamlining Ignite Spot's Accounts Payable and Accounts Receivable function. "It has become a major part of everything we do and we use it to ensure our business is constantly moving forward," said Dan.

According to Dan, "It can be challenging to find the right processes and internal solutions to simplify day-to-day operations but our partnership with Right Networks has exceeded our high expectations."

To learn more about how Right Networks can simplify your company's daily operations, contact Sales at 1-888-210-0237